

Director warns about computer breakdown in social security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's huge Social Security network is "going to break down" unless Congress okays a $400-million overhaul of its vast computer system, says the head of the Social Security Administration.

The problem reached crisis proportions during the last 10 years as Congress added Medicare, Black Lung and Supplemental Security Income to the basic Social Security workload, James A. Cardwell said Thursday.

He warned a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, "Somebody has to start worrying about it."

He said the last straw was federalization of nearly 4 million state welfare recipients two years ago into the Supplemental Security Income program, which has had a 24 per cent error rate in making payments to ineligible persons, overpayments and underpayments.

More than 32 million persons draw Social Security old age, survivors and disability benefits. The Social Security Administration has about 78,000 fulltime employees.

To meet heavier workloads, Social Security is hiring more and more people to help patch together computer programs. But Cardwell said that is as archaic as the pre-computer era when voluminous paper ledgers maintained retirement records for millions of persons.

Cardwell told the panel a whole new computer system is needed. In oral testimony, Cardwell put the cost at $450 million to $500 million over the next six years.

By 1981, when the new system is in place, Social Security will be paying out benefits of nearly $115 billion a year, he said.

"Partly because of the rapid growth and the need to respond on short notice to legislative initiatives, SSA has not always had the opportunity to devise and implement systems and process refinements in a planned, orderly fashion," Caldwell said.

As a result, "SSA's processes have become fragmented, and in many ways operationally unwieldy. Our experience shows that our present processes are not always responsive to either the agency's needs or those of the public it is designed to serve."

3-days-a-week mail delivery?

One of options to cut costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service says it is considering cutting mail delivery to three days a week.

J. T. Ellington, a senior assistant postmaster general, said in an interview Thursday that three-day-per-week delivery is "one of the options" the financially troubled agency is considering in its campaign to cut costs.

Although more drastic cutbacks have been discussed, Ellington said, "Our most immediate option is reduction by one day in delivery service." Postal officials had said previously they are considering eliminating delivery on Saturday or one other day of the week.

Postal service officials have said the savings from elimination of delivery on Saturday would be about $350 million per year and savings would be somewhat higher if delivery is dropped on a business day.

Ellington said the possibility of three-day-per-week delivery was discussed at a recent meeting of the agency's board of governors.

"We'll have to see how things go in the financial area and then decide what we have to do," he said.

Other service cutbacks under consideration include ending special delivery, postal officials say.

"We are not excluding anything from consideration," Ellington said.

The Postal Service would have to seek the approval of the Postal Rate Commission, an independent agency, before eliminating any service.

The postal deficit is estimated to reach a record $1.5 billion for the fiscal year ending June 30.

One problem the Postal Service faces is that "everywhere we turn on cutting costs, somebody opposes it," Ellington said.

In one such action Thursday, a federal judge blocked the Postal Service from closing rural post offices to save money.

U.S. District Judge John Lewis Smith issued a temporary restraining order against the economy plan and scheduled a hearing for March 3 on whether to make his order permanent.

OK'd by state Senate

Property tax hike bill tied to teacher retirement fund

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Senate has approved a bill that would allow counties to raise additional property tax funds for teacher retirement benefits.

The measure by Assemblyman Lawrence Kapioloff, D-San Diego, would replace retirement-benefit levies now imposed by individual school districts with a countywide tax.

Under the bill, counties could use a tax of up to 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation to provide the school districts' share of teacher pensions.

Currently, a property owner can be assessed up to 20 cents per $100 by his elementary, high school and community college districts combined to pay the retirement benefits.

That means part or all of the new tax might be offset in some districts by reductions in the basic school tax rates.

On a $25,000 home, a 30-cent tax rate would mean a tax of $18.75 a year.

CDC reports sharp rise in flu-related deaths

ATLANTA (AP) — Deaths related to influenza and pneumonia jumped sharply above the epidemic threshold last week, the national Center for Disease Control announced today.

CDC statistics from 121 major U.S. cities show that at least 875 persons died of flu or pneumonia during the week ending Feb. 21, most of them in the New England and middle Atlantic states.

An increased death rate in the Western states also helped push the statistics up to epidemic levels, a CDC spokesman said.

CDC flu-watchers determine an epidemic threshold through a complex, shifting formula keyed to an expected number of deaths arrived at by study of statistics in previous nonepidemic years.

CDC officials had charted an expected level of 536 deaths for last week.

In a weekly report, CDC scientists said considerable flu activity was reported in all but three states, Maine, Rhode Island and North Carolina.

Widespread activity — defined as influenza recognized in counties comprising more than 50 per cent of a state's population — was reported in 15 states.

Regional flu activity — meaning flu tracked in counties comprising less than 50 per cent of a state's population — was reported in 18 states. Isolated activity — cases confined to smaller, well-defined population units such as schools or military bases — was reported in 14 cases.

The influenza virus identified as A-Victoria has been responsible for almost all the confirmed outbreaks except for a swine-like virus which was confirmed in the cases of 11 Ft. Dix, N.J., Army recruits earlier this month and resulted in one death.

The swine-related virus is believed responsible for a worldwide, death-dealing epidemic in 1918 and 1919. However, health authorities believe the Ft. Dix outbreak is isolated and not spreading.

The CDC report shows that 164 flu or pneumonia deaths were reported in test cities in the New England region, covering the states of Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

State of emergency ends in Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (AP) — The state of emergency ordered after the deadly earthquake three weeks ago ends Saturday, and the national effort will turn to reconstruction of the devastated communities.

By official count, 22,778 persons died, 76,504 were injured and more than a million were left homeless by the quake and the 1,125 aftershocks recorded in the weeks that followed.

Ontarian burned in welding accident

A 42-year-old Ontario welder was seriously burned Thursday morning when burning gasoline spewed over his face and chest at a muffler shop in Ontario.

The burning gasoline continued pouring out of the tank, spreading flames throughout the interior of the J.B. Muffler Shop, 883 E. Holt Blvd., causing an estimated $25,000 damage to the structure and its contents.

Carl Sullivan of Ontario was listed in serious condition this morning at San Bernardino County Hospital with burns over 35 per cent of his body.

Fire inspectors this morning said Sullivan was apparently welding a trailer hitch to a van about 10:50 a.m. Sullivan lifted his mask to check a weld when the arc welder he was holding came into contact with the van's gas tank. Fire inspectors said gasoline pouring from the tank ignited, and spilled over Sullivan's face and chest.

Two other men in the muffler shop, Mike Keiso and Mike Fresta, ran to Sullivan's side as he crawled out of the flames in the welding pit.

Sullivan managed to get his burning shirt off and then attempted to assist Fresta and Keiso in extinguishing the flames. The fire continued to spread across the shop floor and caught onto workbenches and the wall of the building.

When firemen arrived, the interior of the building was engulfed in flames. Firemen worked 15 to 20 minutes to bring the blaze under control, but not before many tools and a large portion of the structure were destroyed.

LVC plans $500,000 law center

La Verne College announced plans today to build a $500,000 law center on the college campus.

Construction is expected to start in late spring on college-owned land directly across Miller Hall on C Street, according to Steve Morgan, director of development.

He said the law center will encompass 26,000 square feet of floor space, will include two lecture halls, eight student classrooms, a student lounge, faculty lounge, a 5,000-volume law library, conference room and faculty and administration offices.

It will take the place of temporary quarters which the college has used for the past five years.

Tardiness an insult

Vet sends medals back to President

PEEBLES, Ohio (AP) — Harold V. Clark, 60, who got a box full of medals last month for World War II service without an explanation for their tardiness, says he sent them back because he's angry.

Despite congratulatory calls and messages from all over the country, Clark said Thursday he believes the tardiness is an insult to enlisted men.

The Disabled American Veterans is behind him.

"I sent the medals back to President Ford," said Clark, who gets a total disability pension for wounds suffered in the war.

"I told the President in a letter that if he felt like just sending the medals and sitting them on my porch, then maybe he ought to pin them on deserters who went to Canada."

The medals included a Silver Star, a Bronze Star with four clusters, a Purple Heart, three battle medals and a medal for prolonged combat.

When the medals came in the mail I thought they were my Columbia records. When I opened the box and saw them, I got madder and madder. It's like throwing a dog a bone.

"When a colonel gets a medal they give him a brass band. Look what happens to the enlisted man," said Clark.

With the medals, a note was attached which told Clark to go out and buy one of the other medals that he had coming to him," said local DAV Senior Vice Commander Henry P. Lawhorn.

"Why should he have to buy one? He earned it."

Clark was decorated for a house-to-house battle with the Germans in which he assumed command when all his officers were killed and led the survivors to safety.

"Don't make me out to be no hero," said Clark.

"I didn't get them medals for killing people, but for trying to save the lives of my men."

New moves loom in Hearst case: lie test and surprise witness

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A psychiatrist who concluded that Patricia Hearst's account of fear in the terrorist underground was a truthful one says he can't definitely rule out specific instances of lying without lie detector tests.

Dr. Martin Orne, a University of Pennsylvania expert in detecting fabricated stories, said Thursday "it would take a polygraph examination" to uncover falsehoods Miss Hearst may want kept hidden within herself.

Orne was the second of three psychiatrists called by defense attorney F. Lee Bailey, who managed to get the comment about the polygraph on the record despite vigorous protests by the prosecution.

Meanwhile, the chief prosecutor, U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr., hinted outside the courtroom that the government has a surprise witness.

"Something is in the wind," Browning said when asked about rumors that the government had an important witness for rebuttal of Miss Hearst's testimony. He would not elaborate, however.

The government contends Miss Hearst was a willing participant in a San Francisco bank robbery two months after her kidnapping by the Symbionese Liberation Army. The defense has sought to show she took part in the robbery only because she feared for her life at the hands of the terrorist group.

As the fifth week of Miss Hearst's trial neared an end, Bailey was poised to fight for the admission of the results of three days of polygraph examinations of his client, which reportedly indicate Miss Hearst was telling the truth.

Orne had admitted under rigorous cross-examination by Asst. U.S. Atty. David Bancroft that he was trained to generally decide whether a person was lying and left specifics to machines and others.

Bailey spotted the opening and on re-direct questioning asked him about it. Browning has repeatedly said he will fight the admission of the polygraph results, and that showdown could come today.

"For testing the truthfulness of a single, isolated event, what is the best method?" asked Bailey.

Bancroft immediately jumped to his feet, and the attorneys approached U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver J. Carter for a hushed conference that lasted more than five minutes.

Carter announced he would let Orne answer the question but directed Bailey to then "cease his questioning in this area" until a hearing outside the presence of the jury is held on the polygraph tests.

Figures in Hearst trial threatened

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A letter purportedly from the Symbionese Liberation Army threatens the lives of the judge, attorneys and two witnesses in the Patricia Hearst bank robbery trial.

Charles Bates, special FBI agent here, said he didn't know whether the letter was "legitimate." The last known communication from the terrorist group that kidnaped Miss Hearst was on June 8, 1974, shortly after most of the group was killed in a fiery shootout with Los Angeles police.

"But being a death threat against specific persons, we advised all the people involved," Bates added.

Copies of the message were received Thursday by a newspaper and two radio stations in the San Francisco Bay area.

The chief prosecutor in Miss Hearst's trial, U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr., dismissed the threat with a joke: "I hope they don't shoot me before the final arguments."

Chief defense attorney F. Lee Bailey, when advised of the threat, commented, "Very interesting."

U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter is presiding over Miss Hearst's trial. Thomas D. Matthews and Anthony Shepard testified about Los Angeles activities of Miss Hearst and SLA members William and Emily Harris.

$1.5 million award in air crash deaths

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal court jury has awarded damages totaling $1.5 million to the relatives of a man and a woman among 346 persons killed in the crash of a Turkish Airlines DC10 near Paris in 1974.

The verdict Thursday came in the first in a series of wrongful death suits stemming from the crash of the jumbo jet after takeoff from Paris March 3, 1974. In terms of life lost it was the worst air crash in history.

Turkish Airlines paid $60,000 to the plaintiffs in a separate suit before jurors decided Thursday after 10½ hours of deliberation to award $879,450 to the parents of David Kween of London and $630,500 to the children and parents of his wife, Phyllis.

The defendants were McDonnell-Douglas Corp. and General Dynamics Corp., who built the jetliner.

The Kweens left two children, Melissa, 4, and Lauren, 3, who are being raised by Mrs. Kween's parents, Elwell and Betty Case, of Seattle, Wash.

Kween's parents are Cecil and Betty Kween, who helped their son operate tobacco-confection shops in London.

There was no comment from McDonnell Douglas attorneys but lawyers for the defendants had maintained the suit should have been tried under British law, which provides for lesser wrongful death awards than does California law.

UC cuts enrollment

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The University of California says it is cutting more than 1,000 students off its anticipated fall enrollment.

That leaves an annual increase of nearly 2,000 more students than Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. wants, for budget reasons.

But UC officials told a hearing of the Senate Finance Committee's subcommittee on education Thursday that the potential savings on the cut would be about $1.3 million.

A student representative said some qualified students would be denied admission.

UC said the cutback would be accomplished by closing applications on March 1 to all but the Riverside and Santa Cruz campuses.

Already, applications have closed for Berkeley, Los Angeles and Davis, said UC Vice President Donald Swain.

Monday will be the deadline for Santa Barbara, Irvine and San Diego.

UC had asked for an additional million next fall to provide for the over-enrollment of about 3,000 students. Brown rejected the request.

But in the latest request, UC cut the anticipated over-enrollment to 1,861 students, for whom it requested $3.4 million.

Group tours water district

Forty valley members of the Consumer Panel of America were given an overview of the facilities of the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District Wednesday.

The group toured the valley in an air conditioned bus as guests of the district's Board of Directors.

Panel members were also taken on a tour of local areas of the Metropolitan Water District, according to Stan Kawa, general manager.

"We showed our guests how the district serves its customers as a wholesaler of import water," Kawa explained. "By visiting the facilities we were able to show how we operate the system."

He said the district is interested in taking other groups on tours. Those who want to make the trip may arrange it by phoning 623-6681.

Games math students play: math, of course

More than 100 math students from Pomona's public junior high schools participated in a Math Game Day hosted by Fremont Junior High School Wednesday afternoon.

Fremont math teacher Eugene E. Kight arranged the event which he said was designed to promote student interest in math.

Boys and girls from Fremont, Palomares, Marshall and Simons junior highs learned to play 3D tic-tac-toe, Gene's Cubes, hex, min, locket, 5-in-a-row, 20 to 2, tie ko and straigo as well as operate calculators during the afternoon.

They were assisted by Fremont teachers and aides. There were no competitions.

The Fremont Associated Student Body supplied about $100 to provide pencils and fruit punch, which Kight served to the students in the Fremont patio area.

"We hope to make this an annual event," said Kight. "It would be helpful if we could increase the attendance and perhaps hold some contests in the various areas."

Kight has taught in the Pomona school district since 1967. He taught at Marshall before moving to Fremont five years ago.

Harris' motion denied

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Superior Court judge says attorneys for Symbionese Liberation Army members Emily and William Harris failed to prove government wrongdoing in the 16-month-long search for the couple.

Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler denied a defense motion Thursday to quash the 11-count indictment against the Harrises, saying attorneys Leonard Weinglass and Edward R. Rucker did not adequately support arguments that the government had acted improperly.

Weinglass, who represents Mrs. Harris, also sought a "discovery" order to compel prosecutors to reveal evidence against the Harrises and asked for an evidentiary hearing to call witnesses to testify before they are called in a jury trial.

Brandler turned down that motion, but said he would consider "discovery" orders at specific points during the trial.

The pretrial hearing was recessed until Monday. Trial for the Harrises is scheduled to begin March 15.

The two were indicted for kidnapping, assault and robbery stemming from an incident at a sporting goods store in May 1974.

Named in the indictment with the Harrises is Patricia Hearst, their alleged underground traveling companion. Miss Hearst currently is on trial in San Francisco on federal bank robbery charges.

Troops kill women, children

Massacre in Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Mirror today published a Rhodesian army deserter's account of a massacre by Rhodesian troops of 60 black Africans, including women and children.

The newspaper's defense correspondent, Ellis Plance, gave this report:

Tom McCarthy, 22, of London, said he was serving in the Rhodesian Light Infantry when his patrol shot everyone in sight in a village near the Mozambique border.

"The children who could walk were shot and carried by their ankles to a pit and covered in petrol (gasoline)," McCarthy said.

He said the attack was ordered in an attempt to kill or capture 17 guerrillas, and 13 of them were killed and three were later captured.

McCarthy said 1,000 pounds ($2,000) found on one dead guerrilla was shared among the Rhodesian soldiers. He said he got $100.

He also told of being ordered by a superior officer to shoot a wounded guerrilla in the face.

Rhodesian troops dangled the bodies of dead guerrillas from helicopters to warn villagers against harboring the black rebels fighting the white-minority government, McCarthy said.

The Rhodesian government has been accusing the guerrillas of atrocities. One recent claim was that they mutilated a man and forced his wife to roast and eat his severed ears, nose and lips.

Secret talks on embassy radiation

WASHINGTON (AP) — American and Soviet officials are working on an agreement to reduce the microwave emissions that have caused a health scare at the U.S. embassy in Moscow, according to informed sources.

The Soviets contend they are beaming microwaves at the embassy to jam U.S. intelligence equipment on the roof, sources acknowledge.

U.S. officials will not say if there are intelligence-gathering devices in the embassy. However, they do not quarrel with accounts that there are devices there to eavesdrop on Moscow telephones and radio.

While the microwave negotiations remain secret, it is known that the State Department hopes details can be completed within the next two or three weeks.

The radiation caused concern when a sudden intensification was detected six months ago, although the Soviets have been beaming at the embassy building for years.

There have been reports that U.S. officials are worried about the microwaves' effect on the health of embassy personnel and especially about whether the beams cause cancer.

"We have found no medical problems at our embassy in Moscow related to the situation at the embassy," Robert L. Funseth, the State Department spokesman, said late Thursday amid reports that two cases of lymphatic cancer had been detected.

A new physician, Sam Zweifel, was sent to Moscow last Friday but officials said the purpose was simply to permit Thomas Johnson, the doctor on duty, to go on a three-week vacation.

U.S. ambassador Walter Stoessel Jr. was said to be showing some symptoms of anemia but U.S. officials here and in Moscow report he is active and on the job.

State Department officials have given an account of the episode to members of Congress.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says plans are going ahead for construction of a massive new embassy complex in the Soviet capital.

The State Department is requesting $30 million from Congress to start construction of the Moscow facilities, expected to cost up to $100 million. The Soviets simultaneously will be building a new embassy complex in Washington.

RTD plan: 'promises, promises'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A $7.2 billion rapid transit plan by County Supervisor Baxter Ward seems less than popular with some city officials, including a special advisory committee on mass transit.

"The supervisor has put together a lot of promises—promises he cannot deliver for this money," declared Calvin Hamilton, the city planning director.

"Until much more work goes into the plan to prove its feasibility, we cannot approve it," he added Thursday.

Hamilton heads the city Technical Advisory Committee on Rapid Transit which announced it opposes putting the plan to voters, as Ward hopes to on the June ballot.

The committee said the plan should not be submitted for taxpayer approval "until it is modified to demonstrate technical operational and financial feasibility."

Ward's proposal would finance a 281-mile rail system through a one-cent sales tax increase.

Gunman robs gas station

A gunman in dark clothes is being sought by Montclair police in connection with the robbery of the Thrifty Gas Station at Central Avenue and Orchard Street Thursday night.

Station attendant Joseph Martin told officers he was in the office about 8:30 p.m. counting the days receipts when a man walked in and produced a small revolver. The gunman ordered Martin to hand him the cash laying on the table. Martin complied and the gunman ran out of the office door onto Orchard Street.

The gunman was described as black, 25 to 30, 5 feet 7 to 5 feet 8, weighing between 150 and 160 pounds. He was wearing a navy blue windbreaker and dark pants.

Ontario police this morning continued their search for two men nicknamed "Snake" and "Frog" who after threatening a store clerk Wednesday night robbed a Stop and Go Market at Sixth Street and Mountain Avenue in ONTARIO.

Police said two men walked into the store together and one approached the counter to pay for a pack of gum. As the clerk, Cheryl Lock, 22, rang up the sale the man said, "If you want to see your boyfriend tonight, move away from the register." The clerk complied and the man helped himself to the cash and fled out the door with his accomplice.

The clerk said the men used the names, "Frog" and "Snake" during the robbery. She described one of the men as wearing a grey-blue dress suit with a turtle neck shirt and the other as wearing a grey beanie hat, bright colored shirt and a navy peacoat. Both were blacks, she said.

Dam work could cost $5 million

The cost to strengthen Prado Dam near Chino to prevent it from being damaged during a major earthquake could reach $5 million, reports the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

The dam was built in 1941 to provide Orange County with flood protection during heavy rains. The dam includes a spreading basin to store run-off water from upstream.

Officials noted that it would be highly unlikely that a major earthquake would hit while the dam and reservoir were full.

The federal agency has been discussing the possibility of constructing another dam in Mentone adjacent to the Redlands Airport to hold and control run-off water from the mountains. The stored water would be released downstream to the Prado Dam at a rate within capacity of the existing river bed.

Estimated cost of the Mentone Dam is $306 million, with relocation and right-of-way costs set at $21.7 million.

'I am kidnaped Lindbergh baby'; files suit as heir

HONOLULU (AP) — A man claiming to be Charles Lindbergh Jr. has filed suit in Hawaii's Maui County Probate Court to have himself declared an heir to the estate of the late Charles A. Lindbergh, lawyer Ted Meeker says.

Kenneth Kerwin, who also calls himself Charles Lindbergh Jr., said the body of a baby found after the 1932 Lindbergh baby kidnapping was that of someone other than the Lindbergh child, according to the Honolulu lawyer.

Meeker said his client has tried unsuccessfully to convince the Lindbergh family that he is the son of Charles and Anne Morrow Lindbergh. No family member was immediately available for comment.

Kerwin alleges that the body identified as that of the Lindbergh baby was actually that of another child, who died of natural causes, Meeker said. He said his client says he was kidnapped by the Kerwin family, possibly with the aid of Bruno Hauptmann, who was convicted and executed for the kidnapping and murder.

S.D. incumbents face challenges

Three men are challenging the incumbents for two seats on the San Dimas City Council in Tuesday's municipal election.

Terry Dipple of 244 W. Third St., Clyde Bartman of 440 Coronado St. and Philip Wax of 1365 Paseo Dorado will attempt to unseat Keith Brogan who resides at 1312 Paseo Encinas and Ray Miracle of 1325 Greenhaven St.

Terry Dipple

Dipple, a third-time contender for the City Council, said there are no solid issues in the race, but a main concern is to bring government back to the people "because basically they haven't had it."

The city does not provide adequate information to the people who will be most affected by changes in the city. Right now the majority of the City Council does not represent the people. They represent special interests throughout the city," he said.

He favors total communication, outlining all the alternatives, positive and negative, to recommended changes within the community. This can be brought about, according to Dipple, "through regular open houses at City Hall, circulation of questionnaires to residents to ascertain priorities, and providing open, intelligent, informative and candid leadership at City Council meetings."

He promises to "protect the residential neighborhood from inappropriate planning and zoning, noise, odor and air pollution; preserve the community's natural setting and maintain a quiet, rural and suburban way of life."

Dipple supports the development of parks and recreational facilities on a "pay as you go" basis and advocates the improvement of local delivery of human service programs at all governmental levels.

Dipple, 23, has resided in San Dimas for 12 years and is married to the former Kim Smith. He is a senior at La Verne College, majoring in psychology.

Obituaries

Leslie Jennings

Leslie C. Jennings, a former Pomonan who lived at Samarkand Retirement Home, Santa Barbara, died Tuesday afternoon at the home.

Mr. Jennings was born June 13, 1884, in Boone County, Mo. He came to California in 1922 and was a resident of Pomona from 1928 to 1964. He was an appraiser for the Home Savings and Loan Association for 25 years prior to his retirement.

In 1964 he moved to Santa Barbara. Mr. Jennings was a member of the First Christian Church, Pomona.

Surviving are two nieces, Miss Barbara Moorhead of Mexico, Mo., and Mrs. Rosalie Creech of San Bernardino; and other nieces and nephews.

Services will be held Monday at 10:30 a.m. in Forest Lawn Glendale. The Rev. Morgan R. Sly, pastor of the First Christian Church, Pomona, will officiate.

Friends may call at Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona Sunday between 3 and 9 p.m.

Robert E. Fate

Robert E. Fate of 310 E. Columbia Ave., Pomona, died Wednesday morning in Park Avenue Hospital, Pomona.

Mr. Fate was born June 1, 1890, in Lena, Ill. He came to Pomona in 1942 from Fargo, N. D. He was employed by Fairbanks Morse until his retirement in 1958.

Mr. Fate was a member of the Trinity United Methodist Church, Pomona, and held membership in Masonic Lodge 228, Vernon, Minn., for more than 50 years.

Besides his widow, Vivian Lilley, he is survived by a son, George R. of Pomona; a sister, Miss Elizabeth Fate of La Verne; a brother, Heber B. of Phoenix, Ariz.; six grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. John W. Black, of the Trinity United Methodist Church, Pomona, will officiate. Private burial will be made in Pomona Cemetery.

James J. Campbell

James Joseph Campbell of 450 San Dimas Canyon Road, San Dimas, died Wednesday when he was struck by a train in San Dimas.

He was born Aug. 1, 1960, in Minneapolis, Minn. He moved to San Dimas in 1968.

A sophomore at San Dimas High School, he had an outstanding record in sports. He won his varsity letter in track as a freshman. In freshman-sophomore competition in CIF finals, he ran in the 100-yard dash and was a long-jump participant.

He set two school freshman-sophomore records, one in the 220-yard dash and the other in long jump.

As a football team member, he played offensive halfback and was second leading ground gainer.

He was a member of the high school Letterman's Club.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Campbell, a sister,

By The Associated Press
A Summary of Major Action
Thursday, Feb. 26
THE GOVERNOR
No major action.

THE ASSEMBLY
Bills Passed
Child Care — Would establish a sliding scale of payments from parents for child care, depending on their income, in place of currently proposed regulations in which a gain of $1 in income could require a family to double its payments. AB 3059, Forns, D-San Francisco; 72-0, to Senate.

Veto Sustained
Judges — Would have allowed 99 nonlawyer judges to run for reelection this June. AB 2712; W. Thomas, R-Bakersfield; 33-39.

Bills Introduced
Land — Would require the inclusion of a prime agricultural land use element in every city or county general plan. AB 3205; D-Stockton.

Murder — Would require death penalty for any prisoner who commits first-degree murder on any other inmate. SB 3208; Bannai, R-Gardena.

Hospitals — Would require a resident advocate of patient rights at each state hospital. AB 3214; Badham, R-Newport Beach.

Motorcycles — Would prohibit insurance for choppers, and create Office of Professional Standards Development to develop criteria. AB 3212; Goggin, D-San Bernardino.

Trials — Would limit all delays in a criminal trial to 90 days. AB 3233; Siegler, D-Vallejo.

Olives — Would require containers of olives to bear statements of net drained weight of olives. AB 3224; Duffy, R-Hanford.

Gas — Would include teargas in provisions which prohibit ownership. AB 3225; Maddy, R-Firebaugh.

Colorado — Would increase membership of Colorado River Board from six to nine, plus director of water resources and director of fish and game. AB 3227; Sult, D-Indian Wells.

THE SENATE
Bills Passed
School Taxes — Would substitute a countywide property tax of not more than 30 cents per $100 in assessed valuation for taxes levied by individual districts to pay the employer's share of teacher retirement benefits. AB 2009; Kapioti, D-San Diego; 29-4, to Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments.

Elections — Would make changes in requirements that independent candidates must meet to qualify for the ballot. AB 52; Keyser, D-Sepulveda; 27-5, to Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments.

Governor's Appointments — Would amend the system under which the Senate confirms governor's appointees to say that an appointee requiring Senate confirmation may hold office for 90 days, exclusive of any Senate recesses exceeding three days, or until confirmed by a Senate vote. SB 1435; Petris, D-Oakland; 29-0, to Assembly.

Bills Introduced
Marketing — Would permit use of private funds on matching basis with funds collected under the Marketing Act of 1937 for advertising of any commodity. SB 1665; Stutz, R-Leucadia.

Oil — Would prohibit any oil company which has more than $2 billion in assets from acquiring resources from mining, coal, oil shale, tar sands.

granium or geothermal steam. SB 1557; Roberts, D-Los Angeles.

Aid — Would establish a state program of aid for indigent with uniform standards of eligibility to be financed 50 per cent by state and 50 per cent by county. SB 1661; Neriely, R-Walnut Creek.

S.D. incumbents face challenges . . .

Attention to the young people is essential in this bedroom community and there is a vital need to provide services to curb any increase in problems involving juvenile delinquency, he said.

Miracle is a 30-year employee of the Bell System, beginning with Ohio Bell in Cleveland in 1946. He currently is serving as business communications service consultant in the Alhambra office of Pacific Telephone Co. He and his wife, Jean, have five children and two grandsons.

revision of the current San Dimas General Plan and campaigned for its adoption. He and his wife, Nora, have one son, Russell of West Covina.

Keith Brogan

Brogan, first elected to the council in 1972, claimed "San Dimas has made progress in the past four years and I have contributed as your councilman and vice mayor in every decision as our city moved ahead with blanced growth."

"I have supported park development, downtown improvements and beautification, senior citizens programs, YMCA and other youth activities," said Brogan. "My decisions have always been based on what I thought was best for the total community."

As a member of the Valley Association of Cities, Brogan pointed out that he was instrumental in reducing the number of abandoned homes in San Dimas from 33 to zero.

"I am also proud of my work on the golf course committee for San Dimas Canyon Golf Course and was in the lead in the drive for the new clubhouse which will be a valuable asset in attracting new patrons," Brogan noted. "I held the line on the city's property tax rate for three of four years despite runaway inflation and recession.

"I did not say no to the need for parks. As bond issues failed, the council adopted a tax on new construction to finance parks. Now we are generating sufficient funds to pay for the parks."

People without insulation in their attic have something missing upstairs.

Warm air rises. When it rises to an attic with no insulation, it just keeps on going. Right out of the house.

Since you're paying good money to heat that air, it doesn't make sense to let it get away. Proper insulation keeps it inside.

So insulate. And when you do, make sure you do it properly. Ask your insulation contractor or salesman about R-value. R-value is the true measure of resistance to heat flow.

Energy is our business. Conserving energy is everyone's business.

through insulation.

An R-value of 19 is recommended for homes with both heating and cooling.

Insulation can cut the amount of gas you use for heating by up to 20%. With energy costs steadily going up, this is no time to delay. The quicker you fill in what's missing upstairs, the sooner you'll start saving down below.

Yes, as strange as it seems, fish do drink water. It is not easy to find out how much water they do drink, but like all living things they require water. Some fish drink a good deal.

Scientists say fish that live in the ocean must gulp water constantly because the salty water they live in absorbs the moisture from their bodies, causing them to dry up.

For fish that live in fresh water, the problem is just the opposite. Freshwater fish drink very little water.

Since their bodies are saltier than the water they live in, they are constantly in danger of too much water entering their bodies, causing them to swell up.

The fish's body must constantly pump out excess water to prevent the normally salty blood from becoming too dilute.

Amazingly, some fish, such as salmon, the common eel and the striped bass, have developed the ability to spend part of their lives in salt water and part in fresh water.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, c/o this newspaper, Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

ALL-SCHOOL REVIEW

Part of the all-school review which will be put on for parents and friends tonight at 7:30 at El Roble School auditorium, Claremont, is a troupe of beginning baton twirlers, sponsored by the city Parks and Recreation Department. The show is being staged by students, parents and faculty of Mountain View Elementary School. In front row, from left, are Marilyn Fay, Paula Padelford, Lee Anne Herrlinger, and Suzy Hungerford. Back row, from left, are Michelle Thomas, Becky Ball, and Deborah Hutcherson. Even Principal Dennis Mann will participate by reciting a poem, "What is a Boy?", and illustrated with slides.

RTD, valley transit unit end cost dispute

The West Valley Transit Service Authority board Thursday appropriated an additional $17,000 to Southern California Rapid Transit District for total funding of the freeway flyer bus from the West End to the Riverside County line.

The board acted on a recommendation from Wes McDaniel, executive director of San Bernardino Associated Governments.

This action finalizes three months of negotiation between the WVTSA and RTD for continuation of regional and local service within the West End. The county Board of Supervisors also appropriated $46,000 to RTD for service within the San Bernardino metropolitan area and from downtown San Bernardino to downtown Riverside.

The funding package from January to June now totals $134,861 for the West End groups to contract with RTD.

McDaniel and Councilwoman Eileen Carter of Chino, clerk of the WVTSA, attended a meeting of a "committee of the whole" of the RTD executive board and persuaded it to accept nearly all provisions drafted by SANBAG, the transit planning agency for San Bernardino County, and the WVTSA technical committee.

The provisions called for complete funding of three area lines and one-half funding for the freeway flyer from Ontario International Airport to the Riverside County line.

There was a "strong desire by RTD that we drop our proposal to pay for only 50 per cent of the freeway service," said McDaniel. "They were worried over the precedent that was set for service throughout the RTD area, and it came down to this clause being the final problem which stood in the way of closing the deal for their acceptance of any six months' payment instead of the full (fiscal) year."

McDaniel reported that when he and Mrs. Carter promised to seek approval of the additional funds from WVTSA, the RTD approved the contract with only one dissenting vote.

McDaniel had originally estimated that the additional cost would be $23,000. However, he pointed out that because of savings on other lines, only $17,000 needed to be added to the original amount of $117,031.

WVTSA, the designated recipient of Section 5 funds of the Urban Mass Transit Authority, will use these federal dollars to pay for the contract with the regional transit operator.

In other matters, Mayor Harold Hayes of Montclair, chairman of the WVTSA and the city-county task force which drafted the provisions for the new Omnitrans agency, signed the joint powers agreement in a brief ceremony. Montclair City Clerk Trudy Hill stood by to affix the official seal of the City of Montclair on the agreement with nine other cities and the county.

Hayes was the first mayor to sign the agreement. McDaniel reported that nine cities — Chino, Colton, Montclair, Upland, Ontario, Rialto, San Bernardino, Redlands and Loma Linda — have approved the agreement creating the regional transit coordinator and operator within the county. Fontana will consider the matter at its Monday night meeting. The county promises to approve after the cities have.

Claremont Riding Academy nearly unseated by decision

The Claremont Riding Academy was dealt a blow Thursday when the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors withdrew conditional use permit granted for the academy by the Regional Planning Commission.

William E. Myers has operated the riding academy and boarded horses on 3.2 acres at 4030 N. Mills Ave. in county area north of Claremont since 1969.

The commission granted the permit to Myers after a prior denial Aug. 24, 1974. A neighbor, George McKay at 3999 Via Padova, appealed the decision.

Three supervisors, Peter Schabarum, Baxter Ward, and Edmund Edelman, were present for the hearing and voted unanimously to uphold the appeal.

But the decision of the supervisors could be stayed, according to Claremont city officials, if Myers reactivated a proposal to annex his property to the city.

Should the annexation be approved, the entire procedure would start all over, with Claremont, rather than the county, having jurisdiction.

While the annexation request proceeded through channels the 30-horse academy could continue to operate.

Upland firefighters battle for pension gains

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PE Staff Writer

Upland firefighters are seeking an improved retirement program for their department on the Tuesday municipal ballot.

The new program would update the firefighters' current retirement program which was adopted 33 years ago.

According to Bill Landescena, chairman of the Committee for Improved Firefighters Retirement, approval of the ballot measure would put a new program into effect which would place the firefighters on an equal basis for retirement benefits with other public safety employees in the city.

But an outspoken opponent of the retirement program, Councilman Hal Bailin, said the measure will cost the city $63,400 the first year.

Bailin cited the tax increase as 6.2 cents per $100 assessed valuation for the first year and said the figure would vary up or down in subsequent years.

"The issue is not whether the firefighters deserve the retirement program, but what the economy of

Walnut boy, struck by auto, dies

A 3-year-old Walnut boy, injured when he was struck by a car Wednesday morning, died Thursday night at San Dimas Community Hospital.

The victim was Bernard Handke, 248 MacAlister Ave. He had been in the hospital's intensive care unit since being admitted after the accident.

Sheriff's deputies reported that the child was playing along Lemon Creek in Walnut with his two brothers, David, 11, and Melvin, 6, when he darted into Lemon Avenue from behind a guard rail. He was hit by a car driven by Severo Tolia, 35, of Walnut.

No citation was issued and the driver was not held, deputies said.

Briefing slated for area pilots

The Pomona Valley Pilots Association will meet at 8 tonight in the Pilots Lounge of Brackett Field in La Verne. An informal coffee time will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Chuck Stark, from the Aeronautics Department at Chaffey College, will discuss what maintenance an owner or renter may perform on his own plane or rented plane.

All pilots and prospective pilots are welcome to attend.

Income tax help

Beginning Saturday, Volunteers Income Tax Assistance will be in San Dimas to help the elderly and low-income families with their 1975 income tax forms.

VITA, composed of accounting students at Mt. San Antonio College, will be at the Senior Citizens Center, 210 W. Bonita Ave., from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each Saturday through April 3.

Rock-throwing death

Murder count against Uplander is dismissed

A murder charge filed against an Upland man in the death of an Etiwanda woman has been dismissed in Valley Municipal Court in Fontana.

Valley Superior Court Judge William A. Friedrich dismissed the charge against John Joe Serrano, 18, of 667 E. Seventh St., Upland, after more than two hours of fruitless testimony by a prosecution witness.

Serrano was arrested following rock-throwing incident Jan. 17 that killed Josephine Antonio Craig of Etiwanda. In that incident, the Craigs with their young daughter, were driving on Base Line Avenue when a large rock suddenly shattered the windshield of their car. The rock struck Mrs. Craig in the head, killing her and injuring her small daughter sitting on her lap.

Witnesses in Serrano's preliminary hearing could not place him at the scene of the incident. Wednesday in the Fontana court the prosecution's key witness, 15-year-old Cathy Ronquillo, was quizzed about the incident for nearly two hours. The witness was allegedly at a party Jan. 17 when the rock-throwing incident began.

Under questioning from Deputy Dist. Atty. Bill Parker the witness was able to establish that Serrano was holding rocks that evening, but she could not remember if Serrano had thrown any.

Following the girl's testimony the charges against Serrano were dismissed.

Autopsy under way in fight death at YTS

Authorities are awaiting the findings of a coroner's autopsy before deciding whether to issue a criminal complaint in the death of a 19-year-old Youth Training School ward from injuries received in a fist fight.

Phillip Jackson of Bloomington died of head injuries at 8:02 p.m. Tuesday night at Riverside General Hospital, according to the Riverside County Coroner's Office. The ward was admitted to the Riverside hospital several days after the fight with another ward, identified as Armand Clisby, 19, Jackson, according to YTS authorities complained of severe headaches prior to his admission to the hospital.

Chino police initially investigated the incident as a simple battery, but currently are awaiting a coroner's autopsy to determine if a criminal complaint will be issued against Clisby. If formal charges are brought against the ward, they may be filed as a manslaughter, according to a Chino police spokesman.

Clisby, serving time for violation of parole at YTS, is being held in segregation pending the outcome of the police investigation.

Police said that Jackson and Clisby got into an argument on the basketball court. Clisby allegedly struck Jackson. Jackson fell, striking his head on a concrete block.

GOP hopeful stresses reform, belt tightening

David Stirling, a Republican candidate in the state Assembly's 64th District, said there is an urgent need to send more representatives to Sacramento who are honest, energetic, responsive, knowledgeable of the law and possessed with an ample quantity of common sense.

The candidate, an attorney who resides in Hacienda Heights, said he will emphasize in his campaign the need for a strong and functional criminal justice system; reducing the size of government and government's expanding role in the every day affairs of the people; eliminating massive deficit spending by government at all levels; reforming the welfare system; and providing a strong system of traditional education controlled at the local level.

Stirling has been active in local activities, recently completing a term as president of the Hacienda Heights Improvement Association and presently serving as a member of the California Regional Water Quality Control Board.

He also served as campaign chairman for Assemblyman William Campbell in 1974 and was named Whittier's Outstanding Young Man of 1973. Stirling serves on the Whittier Area Chamber of Commerce's legislative action committee.

Stirling is married and has two children. He and his wife are active in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Whittier. He served as president of the church in 1974.

PB endorsements in Upland races

Upland has been faced with less critical problems than other cities in the valley. Its commercial and residential growth have been steady and of the highest caliber.

Residents of Upland have a long record of supporting the city's civic improvements. It has an adequate network of parks and recreational facilities and boasts a newly completed Civic Center and Library complex.

The two candidates for mayor in the Tuesday municipal election have been long involved in the growth of the city. Both have served as either mayor or councilman for more than a decade.

Abner Haldeman, the incumbent, has been deeply involved in many phases of local and state government and has served the city well.

However, there is strong support in the community for Councilman George Gibson as mayor. Gibson is retiring from his job in industry this year and thus free to devote his complete efforts to the city.

Many supporters feel that Gibson is more responsive to the voice of the public and that he has more faithfully adhered to the pledges he made when elected four years ago.

He has an understanding of the many issues facing the city in the future and is well thought of by city employees and the public alike. We are convinced that he is the better candidate for the office of mayor.

While two of the four candidates for city council are equally well qualified, our choice would be Jerry Morris over William Bottin.

Both ran unsuccessfully for city office four years ago, but Morris continued his interest in the city and has served as a member of the Planning Commission during the interim.

Morris is still in his 20s and thus typical of the many young professional people moving into Upland. He has proven his interest in the city and has developed a knowledge of its operation.

We are also convinced that Doreen Carpenter is by far the best qualified candidate for city clerk. In the eight years she has held the post, she has not only gained the respect of those who work with her in the city but also achieved recognition among her peers in state City Clerk organizations.

Bertschinger and Garcia in Chino

Chino once was a small, country town offering a relaxed lifestyle for those seeking a rural atmosphere. Those days are gone.

The city now is one of the fastest growing in the area — and the problem is that it may be growing too fast. The City Council must have leadership to carefully plan future growth to avoid a hodgepodge of development.

Robert Bertschinger is the candidate for mayor who has clearly opposed "glutinous growth." He has indicated that he would work to slow down rapid development in the city, and move toward controlled growth.

He has broad-based support in the community and knows its problems, having been born and reared in Chino.

Bertschinger also would be open to the citizens in deciding the direction and future of the city.

The best choice for the city council seat in Tuesday's election is Pete Garcia. He has more experience than the others.

We urge Chino residents to elect Robert Bertschinger to the mayor's office and Pete Garcia to the council post on Tuesday.

Food stamp reform

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on the food stamp reform bill presently deadlocked in the U.S. Congress.

The right to purchase food stamps should be for anyone who needs assistance to feed their family. Furthermore, every citizen deserves aid from their government in their time of need. But that is not the case, if I may point out a few examples.

Mr. J has lived and worked in California his entire life. He pays his state and federal taxes every year. In January 1975, he lost his job, due to the slowdown in construction work. His wife worked part time, but also lost her job. After several months of not paying bills so they could eat, they applied for food stamps. They completed piles of paper work and were denied food stamps because they made too much money from their combined unemployment checks (a fifth of their normal income.) Mr. J went back to work in November 1975 with no sense of security from his government.

In another case, Mr. D was out of work because his union was on strike. His wife was pregnant, his insurance was no good because of the strike and they had very little savings. After they had exhausted their savings, they applied for food stamps. When the food stamp workers came to their house, they found one frozen chicken. The family was denied food stamps.

In a third case, a young family of three sold everything and moved to California from an Eastern state. They had an ample amount of money when they arrived here. After a month of loafing, they applied for food stamps and welfare. They were given immediate food stamps, and are now on welfare. I must add this able bodied, twenty-three year old man was offered a job making more than four dollars an hour. They have been on welfare for eight months.

I agree we need welfare and food stamp reform, but who will benefit? Where can the working men and their families go for temporary help? Certainly not their government. That's where you go when you don't want to work. — D.L. Clark, Ontario

Howard Hughes: alive or dead?

WASHINGTON — Howard R. Hughes, the phantom billionaire, has been out of public sight for so long that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) may move to declare him legally dead.

Several federal agents, who have followed Hughes' movements, believe he is dead. As far back as Feb. 18, 1972, one agent declared in a speculative memo:

"It is my belief that Howard Hughes died in Las Vegas in 1970 and that key officials in charge of running his empire concealed this fact at the time in order to prevent a catastrophic dissolution of his holdings."

The memo suggests that a "double" could easily have been substituted for the real Howard Hughes, since almost no one outside the reclusive inner circle has seen him in years. "The double no doubt has been schooled in Hughes' speech, mannerisms and eccentricities," the memo conjectures.

A pattern of "complete isolation" was established, with "only a few trusted servants" having direct access to Hughes, notes the memo. The next step, it suggests, was to move the supposed imposter "to a friendly foreign country." This would be necessary, in the agent's opinion, "to obviate the possibility of a government intrusion by search warrant."

The danger of exposing the masquerade would have lessened, adds the memo, "with the passage of time and the double's isolation from any outsiders who knew the real Hughes."

This scenario has not been dismissed in Washington as complete fantasy. Other government investigators also suspect that the eccentric billionaire may be dead, although they lack conclusive proof that he is either dead or alive.

Spokesmen for the $2 billion Hughes financial empire call the speculation preposterous. They contend that the elusive Hughes is quite alive, sound in both body and mind. He is now residing, they say, at the Princess Hotel in Acapulco.

The government has a deep interest in Hughes' welfare. If he has departed this world unannounced someone owes the Treasury tens of millions of dollars in estate taxes. Those responsible for the hoax would also be subject to prosecution.

For them, too, the stakes would be high. As the memo points out: "The power and financial benefits inuring to any group in control of a $2 billion empire are manifest. The opportunities for the siphoning off of hundreds of millions of dollars are also obvious."

Alarmed over this possibility, House Monetary Affairs Chairman Ben Rosenthal, D-N.Y., has privately urged the IRS "to determine whether Howard Hughes still exists."

The IRS is reluctant to compel a showdown with Hughes without "reasonable" evidence of fraud. But if the billionaire refused to meet personally with IRS agents to prove he is alive, a case could be made to declare him legally dead.

Our associate Bob Owens has spent several weeks, meanwhile, tracing Hughes' movements during the past six years. Here are the key findings:

—Sheriff Ralph Lamb investigated Hughes' sudden disappearance from Las Vegas on Thanksgiving eve 1970. The investigation led to Dr. Harold L. Feikes, who had been summoned to Hughes' penthouse the previous month to give him blood transfusions. The doctor warned that if Hughes had been taken anywhere except an intensive care unit, his life could be in danger, the sheriff told us. Feikes refused to comment.

—At the time Hughes left Las Vegas, he had seen no one outside his tight personal circle for more than a decade. During the next several months, a man purporting to be Hughes met face-to-face with half-a-dozen outsiders. The first was Turner B. Shelton, then the U.S. ambassador to Nicaragua, who described Hughes as "about six feet, three inches tall, very thin, weighing from 140-150 pounds, with graying hair and wearing a neatly trimmed Van Dyke type beard."

—The last known visitors to call on Hughes were Nevada's Gov. Mike O'Callaghan and Gaming Board Chairman Phil Hannifin. They also described him as tall, thin and greybearded and found him to be fully alert. The meeting took place in London in March 1973. No outsiders have visited him since that date, so far as we have been able to learn.

—Hughes has been able to travel from country to country without a valid passport. He reportedly lost his passport during the 1972 earthquake in Managua. His aides tried to obtain a replacement without submitting an up-to-date photo of Hughes. But this arrangement was refused by Passport Director Frances Knight.

—In September 1972, Hughes met with New York stockbroker Julie Sedlmayr and attorney I. Courtney Ivey about a stock deal. Significantly, the Securities and Exchange Commission demanded proof that Hughes was really alive. The two men filed affidavits about the meeting and a Treasury handwriting expert authenticated Hughes' signature on the stock documents. Sedlmayr and Ivey told us Hughes was mentally alert.

—Despite his fabulous wealth, Hughes has managed to get off without paying federal income taxes year after year. Sources with access to his tax returns tell us, however, that once in the 1960s he was stuck with a $7 million tax liability. We have established that in some years, at least, Hughes didn't sign his own tax returns.

There is more to the Howard Hughes story, which we'll report in future columns.

Doc Peirsol Just in jest

Some disturbed taxpayers complained bitterly when it was recently announced that our congressmen had voted themselves a pay raise. But complaints such as that are penny wise and pound foolish. After all, what does a congressman's salary amount to when compared to his overall cost? Latest estimates indicate that it is now setting the taxpayers of America back $488,000 a year per Congressman to keep those worthies operating.

I point this out in order that the next time you close the curtain at the election booth and prepare to punch little holes in your ballot, you may be prompted to ask yourself: "Is this Congressional candidate worth $488,000 a year or do I have holes in my head for punching the little hole after his name? By doing so won't I just be putting this country further and further into the hole?"

But frankly, now that I've done it, I wonder why I went to all this trouble to encourage such political soul searching. For well I knew that if you are an average voter, like most of the rest of us, you'll just hesitate briefly, shake your head sadly, and then say: "Oh what the hell!", and go ahead and punch the hole anyway.

Hearst trial a sorry opera

WASHINGTON — The trial of Patricia Hearst is at full tilt — but to what good end? The prosecution is painting her as a booted revolutionary, stealing and terrorizing for a lunatic cause. The defense seeks to show her as a brainwashed girl who acted in fear of her life.

By the time both sides rest, will the jury really know enough about her — or about the convolutions of human motivation in general to convict or acquit? Or will its verdict be a function of a system of jurisprudence which deals in blacks and whites, with no gray areas?

That Patricia Hearst was "brainwashed" there can be little doubt.

She was not a terrorist when she was dragged from her apartment. She was one person then, another when she was arrested, and a third today. Who is to say which is the real one?

And who in the court will adequately define "brainwashing"? We have learned enough about the process to realize that not all persons succumb to reflex conditioning, that brainwashing succeeds only when there are weaknesses on which it can capitalize. Those weaknesses are more important than beatings, fear or sexual abuse.

The process is one of conviction — one in which the mind is washed of its previous values and soaked in new ones. But the doubts must have existed for the brainwashing to be truly effective. And this raises questions which will neither be asked nor answered in court.

Yet it is of considerable significance to take one fact into account: Prior to her kidnapping, Patricia Hearst's world at Berkeley was one in which the actions of a Symbionese Liberation Army were argued to be no more than a form of extreme "dissent" against a corrupt and criminal society which had no justification for existence. How difficult would it be then to convince an emotionally shaken young woman that it was no more criminal to rob a bank than to deposit one's money in it?

Perhaps the prisoner in the dock should be the academic establishment which has either nurtured the antisocial atmosphere of Berkeley and other campuses or has done nothing to counter the pervasive propaganda of the New Left. Perhaps Miss Hearst's teachers and the books she read should be co-defendants.

But beyond this, there are other questions which should trouble the consciences of those responsible for the sorry soap opera that the Hearst case has become.

The law says that we are responsible for our acts unless it can be demonstrated that we were "insane" when we committed them. Even if Patricia Hearst was under no compulsion, in the legal sense, at the time she recorded the tapes attacking her family and espousing bloody revolution — or at the time she participated in the bank robbery — can the sanity of her behavior, or that of her SLA captors, be legitimately argued?

Can it be legitimately said that the grandiose and vicious nonsense of SLA pronouncements manifests any touch with reality?

This is a question that the court will not, and cannot under our system of law, ponder.

It will move within the confines of the laws of evidence to come to some conclusion delimited by statute.

The statute cannot take into account the traumas induced by the intellectual and emotional attitudes prevalent at Berkeley — of the permissiveness of a society which does not call a halt to the systematic moral destructiveness which passes today for education.

The time and effort being expended to put Patricia Hearst behind bars, if that indeed is the outcome of the spectacle now unfolding in San Francisco, are all wasted motion. The real criminals are those who, psychologically speaking, put a loaded gun in Patricia Hearst's hand — and they will go scot-free.

Our man in Washington

We don't trust bigness

By TERRY WADE

PB Washington Writer

WASHINGTON — One of the major complaints among the press these days is the lack of leadership they find in this country.

None of the presidential candidates, nor the President, inspire them. The people who will be electing the next president soon seem to feel the same way.

Only Ted Kennedy, mostly because of his family, and in a lesser way Hubert Humphrey, because he tries so hard, seem to inspire any sort of enthusiasm and neither of these men are officially running.

This problem isn't too difficult to understand if you look at the condition of the country.

We trust our garbage man more than anyone else in our daily lives and then only seventy-five per cent of the time.

When we buy a product we hope it will survive the week, but we are not confident that it will.

The same is true when we select a president. After all the last one we elected didn't serve out the term and the one we have now we didn't elect and we may not elect.

We can't even trust ourselves to take care of our future security so we trust the government, which polls indicate we trust least of all, to take care of that — social security.

We don't trust big business because we think it gouges us and we don't trust big government. We don't trust anything big anymore, if the polls are to be believed, but we continue to drive big cars and our ultimate dream is to live in a big house, probably on a big hill.

What we have forgotten in our zeal for detesting everything big is that this is a big country. Everything we do or have ever done is done in a big way.

Big is what we must credit for our life style — which, whether you like it or not, is much more comfortable than it was even 25 years ago.

Prosperity has blessed this country, with a few years exception, since it was founded almost exactly 200 years ago.

The problem with all of this is that nothing short of a crisis seems to draw the real leaders out of their security blankets and into public service.

When the country was smaller and the problems smaller it was an honor to be a politician (statesman), today it is almost disgraceful.

The problem could very well be the same as the young automobile mechanic faced after working hard for a good many years to build the fastest car.

While he was perfecting it the best drivers in the country were driving it, but once it was done the car was so powerful these great drivers had trouble controlling it so they just took the slower and safer way.

CELEBRATE — Four brothers and their wives have all celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries and one is getting ready to observe the 61st. From left are: Mr. and Mrs.

Gordon Nesbit, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. T. Hart Nesbit, Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nesbit, Cucamonga; and Mr. and Mrs. William Nesbit, Upland.

Eleven score and two years

Nesbit brothers have record?

By MARY REMILLARD
Family Section Editor

Four Pomona Valley brothers and their wives have passed 222 years of marriage together in Pomona Valley.

This evening the three older couples and their sisters will help the youngest brother, 78, and his wife celebrate their golden anniversary.

They are the Nesbit brothers, T. Hart, Robert, William and Gordon. Their sisters are Mrs. Milton Frater of Claremont, who has been married 40 years, Mrs. Mary Sheinut of Claremont, and Miss Estelle Nesbit of Pomona.

The Nesbits are the sons and daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Nesbit, pioneer farmers and citrus growers who came to Pomona in 1889, after Mr. Nesbit's brothers, Dr. B. B. Nesbit and Judge Thomas Nesbit, had migrated to Pomona from Fulton, Mo., in 1885.

It will be an evening of reminiscing for the family at Reg Hill Country Club with tales of their youth, their marriages, their families and the changes in the Pomona Valley from the time their family built one of the first horse car lines that ran from the center of Pomona to Ganesha Park, their education in Pomona schools and the present.

T. Hart Nesbit, 87, and his brother, Robert, 86, are the only ones of the seven children who were not born in Pomona. All have children and grandchildren. Two have great-grandchildren.

The oldest brother and Miss Mary Lilian Grass were married June 23, 1915. They live in Pomona.

Robert married Edith Nuevas of Council Bluffs, Iowa, April 11, 1918. They reside now in Cucamonga.

William Frazier Nesbit, 82, married Winifred Stoult in Pomona on July 22, 1920. They make their home in Upland.

Gordon, 78, and his wife, the former Frances Cramer of Ottumwa, Iowa, were married in Pasadena, Feb. 17, 1926. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Pierce of Upland, and the Nesbits' two grandsons entertained them on that date this month at the Arbor Restaurant. The couple resides in Ontario.

To what do they owe their good health and longevity?

"Well," says Gordon, "you know the family had orange groves. We grew great oranges and we more than ate our share of them. Maybe that did it."

"Or maybe it was just the great Pomona Valley climate. We were outdoors a lot and we worked hard."

Another offered, "We were always active boys, then men, and we're still active!"

"As far as our remaining married all these years, maybe it was because we had loyalty drilled into us from early childhood. And maybe picking the right women had a lot to do with it," is the way Gordon explains it.

"Our mother died when I was 7 and my youngest sister was 3. Our father was a great man and he taught us to take care of each other," says Gordon, "and we did!"

"It has been a great half or three quarters plus century," they all maintain, "and we're still looking forward."

Grant awarded

A grant of $20,000 has been awarded to the California Commission on the Status of Women to enhance the employment potentials of minority women.

Pamela Faust, executive director of the commission stated, "Even when minority women are fully employed, their earnings still tend to be lower than those of either white or minority men or white women. Minority women are a valuable employment resource that goes virtually untapped."

Funded under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970, the project will develop a training module to promote upward mobility and employment potentials of minority women.

The full-time director of the project will be La Sonya Jones, a Black woman who has been a public employee for nine years and has worked with various levels of management.

Finding the right kind of light for your plants

By JANET TARA
(First of a Series)

Success or failure with your window garden depends on the careful choice of plants. The major requirements of any plant are light, water, soil composition, temperature and humidity. Of these, light is the most important; a plant can adapt to other variations in its environment.

Although you can combine foliage and flowers best suited to a variety of temperatures and humidity, you must not group together plants with dissimilar light needs. Find out exactly how much light your window provides and then choose plants that will flourish in that light. Here are a few suggestions for each of the four main light exposures:

North Window: Boston fern, caladium, chinese evergreen, fiddleleaf fig (close relative to Indian rubber plant), grape ivy, piggyback plant, pigmy date palm, snake plant, string-of-hearts vine, windowleaf philodendron (not a true philodendron), avocado, pothos.

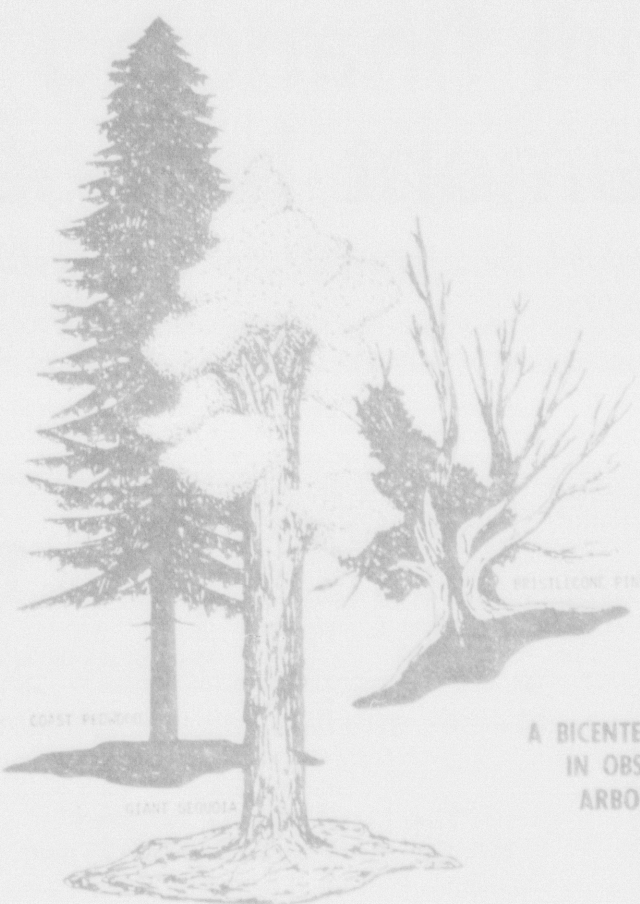

East-West Window: asparagus fern, dracaena family, (filtered light), dieffenbachia (filtered light), English ivy, kentia palm (filtered light), spider plant, schefflera, wandering Jew, wax begonia.

Southern Window: velvet plant, (purple passion plant) gardenia, geraniums, wax plant, cacti and succulents, coleus and all flowering plants.

TREES: OUR NATIONAL HERITAGE

A BICENTENNIAL PROGRAM IN OBSERVATION OF ARBOR DAY 1976

CALIFORNIA GIANTS

Arbor Day celebration tied to Bicentennial

The Los Angeles County Department of Arboreta and Botanic Gardens' Arbor Day program on March 7 has been named an official Bicentennial Program by the County Bicentennial Commission and the Board of Supervisors.

Under the theme "Trees: Our National Heritage," 500,000 children from 2,000 schools and youth organizations are expected to participate in the Bicentennial-Arbor Day program throughout the county which will include the planting of 2,000 seven-foot trees grown at the Arboretum for this Bicentennial observance.

The Education Division of the Department has prepared the most ambitious and wide-reaching program in its 20 years of advancing the concepts of Arbor Day throughout the community. An important feature of the program is an information packet containing valuable resource material tracing the role of trees in the building of the nation and illustrated by life-like pen-and-ink drawings by well known local artists. The packets are intended to provide the basis for yearlong classroom study aimed at cultivating student interest in environmental and conservation matters.

Their attention will focus on the indispensable role trees have played in the building of the nation such as the white oak, used in shipbuilding; the sugar maple, used for making furniture and also for its syrup; the eastern white pine, used for ships' masts; the shagbark hickory, used for covered wagons; the Douglas fir for telephone poles; and the western hemlock for paper products.

California's most famous contributors to the nation's heritage of trees are the two great redwoods, Sequoia sempervirens, tallest of the world's trees, and Sequoiadendron giganteum, the most massive in the world; also the best specimens of the oldest living trees in the world, the bristlecone pine (Pinus aristata), known to reach an age of 4,900 years.

The Department has been growing the trees and assembling the packets for its Bicentennial Arbor Day program for the past year, assisted by Chairman Marilyn Llewellyn of the volunteers of the California Arboretum Foundation and by a donation from the Oak Tree Foundation. As an added touch to stress the value of trees to the country, each of the trees to be planted will be tagged with a red-white-and-blue label giving both its popular and scientific name and appropriately designated as an official Bicentennial Arbor Day program.

Farmer builds own railroad

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP) — Jack Bennett built his own railroad in his front yard.

After almost six months work, Bennett recently drove a golden spike that joined the ends of his Missouri Flat & Applegate Valley Railroad. It covers 10 acres of his 95 acre farm. He has two engines, six passenger cars, and nearly a mile of track. He purchased his "rolling" stock from two amusement parks that were going out of business.

Gardeners check list

California's Arbor Day is March 7, the anniversary of the birthdate of the famous horticulturist, Luther Burbank. For a fun family project plant a tree and provide the nation with a growing gift on its 200th Birthday.

Cinerarias put on quite a show of seasonal color in the shade garden. Nurseries should have plants in bloom or fully budded.

Once the danger of frost has passed it's time to plant citrus. Check with your nurseryman for the ones which do best in your area.

Don't cut back the drooping tops of your spring bulbs as soon as the flowers fade. The bulb underground has to ripen and store food provided by the leaves in order to complete its cycle properly.

Baseball delay was no surprise

The current stalemate between baseball club owners and players is hurting the fringe area and rookie players.

The youngsters and those on the fringe are the ones who have to make the clubs through their performance in spring training, the shorter the training period and exhibition season, the shorter the "look" the clubs take at these players.

You can't blame the owners, however, for wanting to have everything settled BEFORE starting spring training. If they didn't there certainly is every likelihood that the players would either walkout when the regular season was slated to begin just as they did in 1972 or strike at some key time during the season.

Crux of the matter of course is the reserve clause. Baseball players want to be able to quit their jobs and move on to another club if they are dissatisfied. That's what will be happening in the NBA in four years and perhaps in the NFL starting this coming season.

I still don't think it can work. I can't see maintaining interest in any team in any sport if my favorite players move on after a year or two.

There is also the undeniable threat that the richest teams in the biggest cities or the best climates will wind up with the cream. That leaves most of the others on the outside looking in.

I don't think you can compare professional athletes on major league teams with the average working man. There are those who argue that the professional athletes should be able to quit their jobs (and move on to another team) if they wish just as any working stiff can if he desires.

Hogwash.

We're not the same

The Progress Bulletin, for example, does not spend thousands of dollars every year scouting employees. It has not invested hundreds of thousands of dollars (perhaps millions) in bonuses in signing employees just to come and work for it.

It has not spent thousands of dollars and several years in training and developing any of us at newspapers with less circulation in smaller cities.

There simply is no way you can compare the professional athlete with the working man. The Dodgers, Angels, Rams, Lakers and Kings are definitely NOT made up of individuals who walked in, filled out an application, went through interviews and were hired to play third base, defensive tackle, forward or right wing.

In about 99 per cent of the cases, they are there because they were scouted in high school, in summer league, in semipro games and in college; signed (probably for at least a small bonus) and, in the case of baseball, sent to a minor league club where it took several years (at a loss to the parent club) to develop skills to the point where they were ready to play in the major leagues.

Minor league baseball clubs are operated at a LOSS by the big league clubs. There is little or no money in running a minor league team. It's a necessity because few players are ready for the major leagues when they leave school.

Pardon me if my heart doesn't bleed for those poor "enslaved" creatures who are forced to labor at salaries ranging from $30,000 to $200,000 a year for working four to six hours a day six months of the year.

Around the Sports Beat: It was good to see the large number of former La Verne players, now in professional ball, at the alumni game recently.

Several were pros

Pitcher John Verhoeven ('74) is on the Salt Lake City roster but will train with the Angeles. Shortstop Nick Leyva ('75) played third base for St. Petersburg in the Florida State League. Nick hit .288 and his team won the pennant.

Pitcher Dan Quisenberry ('75) divided his time between Moline (Midwest League) and Jacksonville in the Southern Association last summer. He was 4-1 at Moline and 1-1 at Jacksonville.

Outfielder Jack Maloof ('71) hit a sizzling .317, second highest in the league, for Orlando in the Southern Association. Maloof signed a major league contract this year and is waiting for the Minnesota Twins to open camp.

Third baseman Dan Graham, ('75) now a fulltime catcher, hit .263 with Wisconsin Rapids. Outfielder Jim Beal ('72) spent half a season in the Mexican League and quit though hitting .353 (The food, travel and heat got to him). He's negotiating with several organizations about this year.

Mike Pagnotta ('75) will be reporting to Pittsfield (Eastern League) this year after hitting .270.

It looks as though none of the six valley teams who will participate tonight in CIF basketball playoff openers had drawn an easy first-round opponent.

Tonight's pairings involving local teams will find Antelope Valley at Garey, Ganesha vs. Fullerton, at Fullerton JC, Sonora at Bonita, Indio at Alta Loma, Serra at Chaffey and Ontario Christian at Workman. All games begin at 8 p.m.

On paper, Garey's Vikings would appear to be solid favorites to beat the visiting Antelope Valley Antelopes. Garey, the defending champion of the CIF 3A division, was rated 11th in this year's final writers' poll while the team from Lancaster was unranked.

But Garey coach Mike Wells isn't taking the Antelopes lightly.

"They're supposed to be an improving team, and they beat Victor Valley once," he said. Antelope Valley, the runnerup in the Golden League, beat Victor Valley, 63-58, in their last meeting. Victor Valley is ranked sixth in the 3A with a 21-3 record.

Antelope Valley was 10-4 in league play and 16-7 overall, compared to Garey's 12-2 (San Antonio League) and 19-7 marks.

"They press and run — they rely on quickness," said Wells of the Antelopes. "I guess they're a lot like Ganesha was last year."

"I don't think we'll have trouble with their press, though," Wells added.

Gary Carpenter, the Vikings 6-foot-5½ superstar, brings the ball downcourt for Garey. Carpenter has averaged 19.6 points in 26 games this season while junior center James Lofton, 6-6½, has averaged 13.3.

The Antelopes are led by playmaking guard Bill Blankenship, who has a reputation as a fine passer and averages 13 points per game. D.J. Wallace, a 6-3 forward, leads the squad in scoring (20 points per game) while 6-3 forward Lee Fobbs averages 15 points and 12 rebounds.

Ganesha's Giants have drawn as tough a first-round foe as any of the local teams. Gary Fulkerson's team will play fourth-ranked Fullerton on the Indians' home court.

Freeway champion Fullerton (13-1, 19-4) is a veteran squad, with all five starters and the sixth man back from last year's varsity, which lost to Garey by a single point (44-43) in December of 1974.

Three of the Indian starters — Jay Lucas, Keith Van Horne and Greg Tucker — also started last year.

Lucas, a 6-4 forward, has averaged 18 points a game to lead the team. Van Horne, a 6-6½, 240-pound center, gives the Indians strength under the boards, where they are very tough. Tucker plays in the backcourt.

Fullerton coach Bob Van Voorhis runs a disciplined, patient offense which will undoubtedly try to slow the pace of the faster Giants.

In contrast to the experienced Fullerton starters, Ganesha's starters include two talented sophomores — James Verdon and George Hawthorne. But Fulkerson has experience in the backcourt in senior guards George Terry and Ken Dudley. The Giants (11-3 in the SAL, 18-8 overall) were rated 20th in the final 3A poll.

Bonita (11-3, 18-7) will also meet a team ranked higher than the Bearcats in the Sonora Raiders. Sonora, 7-3, 16-8) tied for the second spot in the Orange League behind El Dorado, is rated 13th, while Bonita, runnerup to Alta Loma in the Hacienda League, was placed 20th.

The Raiders are led by Dave Knudsen, a 6-7½ senior center who averaged 18 points during the regular season, and Charlie Amaral, a 6-2 junior, considered the best forward in the Orange League. Amaral averaged 15 points per game.

Forward Ricky Scala averaged 9.8 per game, guard Bill Kuper added 8.8, and freshman playmaker Bill Stewart made 2.1 per game.

Knudsen will have 3½ inches on Bonita's star center Steve Sly, who averaged 21.9 points per game.

"I'm concerned about them scoring inside," admitted Bearcat Coach Remi Tremblay. "But there hasn't been anybody yet who didn't know they were in a game when they played us."

Sly's chief scoring partner is Aaron Bitran (14.8 points per game). Alta Loma figures to have the easiest time of any valley playoff team tonight.

Jeff McCall's Braves, (14-0, 25-1) who rose to second place in the final 2A poll when San Marino lost to Temple City during the final week of league play, will host the unranked Indio Rajahs.

The Rajahs tied for second in the Desert Valleys League behind Palo Verde.

Indio, after losing three of its first five league games, finished 7-3 in the loop and 14-8 on the year.

Coach Paul Thompson relies primarily on Gary Willis, a 6-2 junior guard (14.6 points per game), Curtis Neal, a 6-2 junior forward (10.3), and Mark Hurlburt, a 6-1 junior forward (9.9) for scoring punch. The Rajahs have 6-7 senior center Joel Stralow to match against Rich Davis, the Braves' 6-9 junior.

CHICAGO SCORES

Alain Daigle (17) of the Chicago Black Hawks raises his arms after scoring a goal against the Los Angeles Kings Thursday night in 6-2 victory. Goalie is Gary Edwards.

Kings need momentum

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We play well for 10 or 15 games and then everything seems to break down, and it did tonight," said Los Angeles Kings Coach Bob Pulford after his team lost to Chicago 6-2.

The Kings fell apart in the second period Thursday night as the Black Hawks roared past them with three goals.

"It seems like we play harder on the road," Pulford added. "Tonight we weren't physical."

The Kings need momentum because they are only four points ahead of Pittsburgh in the Norris Division race.

For the Black Hawks, however, the win was their second in four outings against Los Angeles this season, and the 500th Chicago coaching victory for Black Hawk mentor Billy Reay, the dean of National Hockey League coaches. The Black Hawks stretched their lead in the Smythe Division race.

Dennis Hull sparked the Black Hawks with his 21st and 22nd goals of the season and Pit Martin added three assists. The second period goals came from the sticks of Ivan Boldirev, his 25th, Stan Mikita and Dale Talton.

Nicklaus shoots 66 to share lead

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus finished off his interrupted first round with a birdie on his 17th hole today and, with a six-under-par 66, tied Fred Marti for the lead in the $300,000 Tournament Players Golf Championship.

Nicklaus and 32 others were stranded by darkness on the 7,129-yard, par 72 Inverrary Country Club course Thursday night and were forced to complete play shortly after dawn today.

Nicklaus, five under par with two holes to go when play was stopped, returned to action with a birdie four on his 17th hole then completed his round with a par.

A lengthy rain-delay Thursday morning had set some starting times back as much as two hours.

"It was the right decision," Nicklaus said. "We might have been able to finish, but it would have been close. There really wasn't that much daylight left. I've been in tournaments where this happened before, but I was always in the early half of the field and I never before had to go back out and finish my round the next day."

He wasted no time getting started in the heavy, early morning dew. Nicklaus, who has blown two chances to win earlier this season, put his second shot in a greenside bunker on the par five eighth, his 17th hole, blew it out to six feet and made the putt.

That lifted him out of a tie with 46-year-old Don January, British Open champion Tom Watson and J.C. Sneed, who had completed their 67s on Thursday. Barry Jaeckel, whose round also was interrupted by darkness, completed a five-under-par 67 early today.

Jaeckel, son of movie actor Richard Jaeckel, had a chance for a share of the lead but missed a six-foot birdie putt on his final hole.

Dale Douglass completed a 68 on the rain-softened greens that helped contribute to the generally excellent scoring in this event that is billed as the championship of the touring players.

Poly cagers end home schedule

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Cal Poly will say goodbye to six seniors, including two of the finest players to ever wear a Bronco uniform, when the basketball team closes its home schedule tonight at Kellogg Gym against UC Riverside.

The game between the archrivals will be one featuring frustrated teams.

UC Riverside is nearing the end of a disappointing season while Poly has seen its fortunes take a nosedive in the past two weeks.

However, Poly's hopes of winning the school's first CCAA championship aren't dead yet but it's no secret Coach Don Hogan's team has its back to the wall.

Poly, 13-12 overall and 5-3 in CCAA play, must win both tonight and next Friday at Cal State Northridge while hoping both the co-leaders, Cal State Los Angeles and Cal State Bakersfield, lose at least one of their final three games.

Both CSLA and Bakersfield are 5-2 in league play and they meet head-on Saturday night in Bakersfield to guarantee a loss for one of them.

CSLA plays at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo tonight while Bakersfield hosts Cal State Northridge. Next Friday, Los Angeles hosts UCR while CSB entertains SLO.

"Mathematically, we're not eliminated," Hogan says. "We have to win our last two and hope the teams ahead of us lose." After enjoying a 5-0 CCAA record and an 11-6 mark overall, Poly has had a rough time.

"We must get back the intensity we had earlier in the season," Hogan said. "I think the team will perform better now that they're in the situation of being behind."

Poly's hopes for a fast finish were dealt another blow this week when playmaking guard Tom Ispas, the 5-7 sophomore who leads the team in assists, suffered a sprained ankle and is doubtful tonight.

If Ispas can't make it, forward Jack Gamulin will probably move to one of the guard spots with Bill Cantwell taking over at Gamulin's normal position.

Guard Joe Sills and forward Paul Newton, who were both All-CCAA choices last year and probable selections this season, top the list of seniors. The others are Cantwell, Aaron Hopwood, Malcolm Kennedy and David Kennedy.

Sills, who is averaging 23.7 points per game, needs only 10 points to break the school record for most points in a season. With 592, he figures to go past David Jones' mark of 601 set in 1967.

Despite playing only two seasons, Sills is also within range of Poly's career record. With 987 points, he needs only 14 to become the second Bronco ever to score the magic 1,000 figure and is 53 short of the record of 1,040 set by Paul Scranton in 1966.

Sills only needs two field goals to surpass Scranton's career record of 396.

Newton, who has played three seasons at Poly, can move up to the third spot in career scoring. With 867 points, he is only five behind Vermont McKinney. Only Scranton and Sills are above that figure.

Veeck strays from owners

By Associated Press

The baseball owners were under attack from outside and inside as they planned to place some modifications on the bargaining table today in their 22nd negotiating session with the players association.

The external opposition came from the players association, which hasn't seen much progress in the continuing negotiations on a new labor contract with the owners. A spokesman for the owners' Player Relations Committee said the owners today were going to revise some specifications in their "eight-and-one" plan, whereby a player could become a free agent in his 10th major league season.

Then there was the internal dispute with one from their own ranks.

Bill Veeck, the maverick owner, strayed from the pack once again in cracking the owners' solid front to delay the opening of spring training.

Veeck, the new owner of the Chicago White Sox, said Thursday that he was opening his camp in Sarasota, Fla., for 25 non-roster players.

"The gun is loaded and pointed at my head," said Veeck, who had threatened to open the doors to all his players. "There is absolutely nothing else we could do."

"They could have taken away the franchise and kept us in bankruptcy the rest of our lives."

American League President Lee MacPhail said Veeck was "not in violation of anything. He cleared it with the league office."

When told of Veeck's "loaded gun" statement, MacPhail laughed and said: "We told him if he defied league orders there would be disciplinary action."

"I feel the matter of spring training is, was and should be a matter of self determination," Veeck said. "Obviously, the other 23 clubs do not agree."

"They want unity? They can have unity. Let's all open up spring training. But unity seems to come only when I do what they want."

Veeck wasn't the only baseball man who was eager for the rites of spring training to begin.

The players have been calling for the opening of the camps since the owners, saying they can't negotiate and play baseball at the same time, locked the doors and hid the keys last Monday.

Several teams have begun practice sessions on their own, including a dozen players from the Philadelphia Phillies. "We all chipped in and bought the balls and some bats," said Phillies slugger Greg Luzinski.

A couple of managers, Billy Martin of the New York Yankees and Chuck Tanner of the Oakland A's, also called for the game to begin.

"I want to install my system," said Martin, who will be beginning his first full season as Yankee manager if, and when, the 1976 season gets the call. "Every day spring training is delayed will hurt us as a team."

Meanwhile in Minneapolis, Bob Short, a partner in the group attempting to buy the San Francisco Giants, said some problems have surfaced that were blocking final approval of the deal to keep the National League club from moving to Toronto.

Short and his partners were given until 8 p.m. EST Monday to fulfill conditions set forth by the National League owners when they gave preliminary approval last Tuesday to the $8 million purchase.

Huskies, Beavers still tied

By The Associated Press

Oregon State, limiting Washington State's Steve Pudukas to an "ungodly" 14 points, has pulled to within a half game of first place in the tight Pac-8 race.

OSU is still tied with eighth-ranked Washington after knocking off Washington State 69-55 Thursday night. Both Oregon State and Washington will be 9-3 going into their showdown Saturday in Corvallis.

It was the second straight victory for OSU without star center Lonnie Shelton, declared ineligible by a federal appeals court ruling in favor of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"Ain't nobody gonna tell me that we're not a better team than they (OSU) are without Shelton," said WSU Coach George Raveling, whose Cougars are 17-7 over all.

Pudukas, the 6-11 WSU standout, finished four points under his scoring average and picked up only four field goals. He said this week he will return for his senior year unless he receives an "ungodly" professional basketball offer.

Norton Barnhill of the Cougars led all scorers with 21 points. Rocky Smith led the Beavers with 20 points.

Washington State is now 17-8.

The eighth-ranked Huskies, meanwhile, turned off Oregon and the Ducks' highly partisan fans with a crucial 67-62 victory Thursday night.

"Patience was our virtue," said Washington coach Marv Harshman after the game. The Huskies took the lead in the closing minutes and went on to beat the 17th-ranked Ducks.

High scorer for the Huskies, now 22-3 overall, was 7-foot center James Edwards with 17 points. Oregon's Mark Barwig had 16, while Ron Lee finished with 11 — all but two points in the second half.

In West Coast Athletic Conference play Thursday night, the University of San Francisco Dons scored a lopsided 111-77 victory over Loyola of Los Angeles.

Marion Redmond led the Dons' attack by scoring 26 points. Teammates Winford Boynes and Bill Cartwright each scored 20 points, and Rod Williams added 19, including 16 in the second half.

The victory gave the Dons a 9-2 WCAC record and moved them into first place, one-half game ahead of Pepperdine. USF and Pepperdine will meet March 6.

Long Beach St. tied Cal St. Fullerton for the Pacific Coast Athletic Association Conference lead Thursday behind Larry Hudson's 23 points by taking a 68-66 triple overtime victory against the Titans.

The visiting Titans were led by forward Greg Bunch, who hit for 23 points and gathered in 10 rebounds.

Davis (10.8 points per game) is second to Anthony Vasquez (13.4) in scoring on the Braves' very balanced team.

Chaffey will host Camino Real League runnerup Serra, a team very similar to the Tigers — both squads rely primarily on their big men.

The Tigers have 6-4 Mark McQuaid (20.3 points per game), 6-5 John Matke (16.5) and 6-7 Anthony Munoz (8.8). The visiting Cavaliers will counter with 6-6 sophomore Mike Zeno (14), 6-5 Ken Anderson (14) and Kevin Hilaire 6-5 (13).

"We'll see if they can handle a press," predicted Chaffey coach Don Nelson. Chaffey finished as co-champion of the Citrus Belt League (12-3, 16-7) while Serra was runnerup to Verbum Dei (fourth-ranked team in the 4A) with a 12-2 league record and a 16-9 overall slate.

Ontario Christian will probably have more than it can handle in Workman, the 11th-ranked team in the guard Billy Morales (13.6). The Knights finished third in the Olympic League with a 9-3 loop record and a 16-6 overall mark, and were ranked 19th in the final 2A poll. John Vanderschaaf leads OCHS in scoring with 15.8 points per outing.

MSAC gains finals

Mt. San Antonio College earned a berth in its own John Arramside Invitational Baseball Tourney championship contest Thursday by whipping two tourney foes, while Chaffey College pounced out a 18-5 victory over visiting Antelope Valley.

MSAC bombed Glendale 18-3 in Thursday's tourney opener, but had to tally for two runs in the last of the ninth of the nightcap to take a 5-4 win from Riverside City College.

Kevin Chapman picked up his third mound win of the year in the Mounties' easy victory over Glendale. Ron Roenicke had another big game at the plate for MSAC, as he blasted a double and two triples good for five RBIs. Matt Erickson knocked a solo homer in the game to add to MSAC's cause.

The Mounties had to overhaul RCC leads of 2-0 and 4-2 to win the second game. Hurler Bob Veselic went the distance in notching the win. The righthander from Walnut fanned 12 and pitched a seven-hitter, all four RCC runs being unearned thanks to three MSAC errors.

The next MSAC batter grounded out, but Chris Barbone put down another bunt single, the RCC throw to first on the play sailing past the first baseman, allowing Neconie to score with the winning run.

MSAC advanced its season mark to 7-2. The Mounties will play Saturday at 2 p.m. on their own field vs. the winner of today's tourney outings for the title.

Chaffey avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of Antelope Valley by bombing AVJC on the Panther diamond Thursday.

Larry Jones continued his tear at the plate for the locals, slugging two home runs, one a grand-slam in the second inning, and driving home seven of the 18 Chaffey scores.

Rod Weigand added two triples and four RBIs to the easy win.

District honors Finnerty

Cal Baptist, top-seeded team in the current NAIA district playoffs, placed five players on the 11-man All District Three first team.

Kevin Finnerty of Chino, the Lancers 6-9 center, was a cinch for that position after averaging over 20 points a game for a team that averaged over 100 points a game in posting a 25-3 record.

Other Cal Baptist players were forwards Steve Deering and Dennis Motley and guards Steve Johnson and Rick Bauer.

Only two players were named from the entire seven-team SCIAA. They are Occidental guard Steve Snodgrass and Redlands center Brian Sanders.

Chaffey JC will host L.A. Aztecs

For the second consecutive year, Chaffey College's Athletic Department will present "Aztec Day" Saturday, featuring the Los Angeles Aztecs of the North American Soccer League.

The action will begin at 11:00 a.m. when two A.Y.S.O. Division IV teams from Redlands and Riverside will do battle. After that, at noon, two semi-pro squads from Norco and Ontario will square off.

Then, at 2:00 the Los Angeles Aztecs and Chaffey's Panthers will take the field in the main event of the day. The Aztecs are led by George Best, who last week claimed he was "better than the world-famous Pele."

All-Star cagers to play at Garey

Jay Lawrence, popular KLAC radio disc jockey, will emcee the Pomona Elks Lodge Charity Basketball game Saturday evening at Garey High School. The contest features the Johnny Brown Celebrities and begins at 8:00 PM.

Opponents for the Celebrities are the General Dynamics All-Stars. The team is composed of players participating in the company's intramural league.

Playing for Brown's team are Kent McCord,

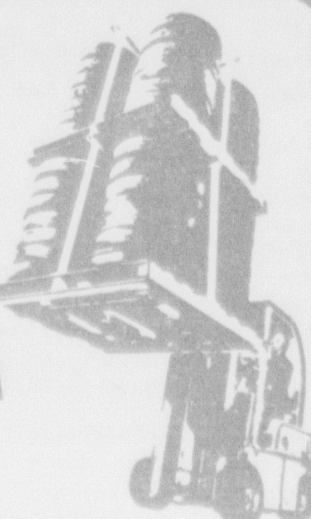

Other Aztec stars include Luis Marotte, Ramon Morales, and Douglas McMillian. The Aztecs are a power in the North American Soccer League as they finished second last year, and won the championship the year before.

Chaffey's coach Frits Rosenfeldt called the chance to play the Aztecs "a marvelous opportunity to improve ourselves." The Panther squad isn't a bad one itself, sporting a 10-3-1 record. Rosenfeldt added, "A lot is owed to Barney Newice for getting this day and the entire soccer program at Chaffey off the ground." The Panther coach also anticipated a turnout of about 1200 spectators.

Two of the area's better civic league teams play in a preliminary contest starting at 6:00 PM. Espinas and the Brooklyn Dodgers are both currently in first place in their respective leagues. Proceeds from the game go to Elks charities. Tickets are on sale at the door for $1.50 per person.

Grunion run begins

The late, late show along Southern California beaches is scheduled to begin its annual summer run next week, starting a cast of millions. Millions of grunion, that is. Also taking part will be a supporting cast of hundreds, or even thousands in some areas, of fishermen.

After consulting tide tables and moon charts, Department of Fish and Game marine biologist Vickie L. Wine says the first grunion run of the year should take place next Tuesday night, beginning at 11:09 p.m.

Each year, near the beginning of spring, the small silvery fish appear during the night to spawn on beaches in Baja California and Southern California.

The timing of their spawning runs is dictated by the cycles of the tides and moon. They usually run for four consecutive nights, with the beginning of each run occurring two days after a new or full moon during the highest tide of the day.

During the runs the grunion come ashore with the waves. The females bury themselves tail-first in the sand to lay their eggs which are then fertilized by the sperm of the male grunion attracted by the antics of the female of his choice.

The entire process takes only 15 or 20 seconds and the grunion return to the ocean on the next wave. And it's during that short interval that grunion fanciers take part in one of the most unusual fishing scenarios possible.

Since grunion can be caught only with your hands — state regulations forbid the use of any kind of fishing gear or other implement — activity on the beach during a run is wild and often frantic as people try to pick up the slippery fish in their bare hands.

Although grunion can be expected to run on any of the major beaches in Southern California there's no guarantee they will run on every beach during every night of the predicted four-night run, Ms. Wine advises.

She also cautions grunion fishermen not to be overly eager when the first few fish appear on the beach.

"Grunions are easily frightened and won't come ashore if people on the beach start running around or shining their flashlights into the water. Wait until the run is well under way before going after them," she advises.

Grunion not only are fun to catch, they're good to eat. One popular recipe says they should be cleaned and scaled, rolled in a mixture of flour and cornmeal to which a little salt has been added and deep fried until golden brown. Although bony, they have a delicate flavor when they are freshly prepared.

Although major grunion runs will take place from early March through July, grunion fishing is banned during April and May to provide necessary protection to the grunion during the peak of their spawning season.

There's no limit, as long as you don't waste any fish, but the DFG says you do need a fishing license if you are 16 or older.

The following table shows the predicted times and dates of the major runs (except for the closed months of April and May). When the time of the expected run is after midnight, the date of the night before is shown. The best runs usually occur on the second and third nights of the four-night period.

Redlands advances

PASADENA — Redlands and USIU emerged as winners in the NAIA District Three Basketball Playoffs at Ambassador College Thursday.

Redlands (18-3) easily defeated Westmont (14-13). USIU (16-11) beat Whittier, 70-61. (14-13). Redlands and USIU will meet at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Biola (20-4) plays Occidental (20-4) at 8:30 p.m.

The winner of Saturday night's 8:30 p.m. game will play Cal Baptist (25-3) Monday night at 7:30 p.m. Winner of the Oxy-Biola game will meet the winner of Monday night's game for the title Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m.

Rob Russell's 16 points led Redlands Thursday. Val Popov had 14, Brian Sanders 12 and Tom Buf-fum 10. The Bulldogs were ahead, 45-30 at the half.

Chet Hancock scored 29 points as USIU beat Whittier. Jim Sweeney led the Poets with 12 points and Karl Simmons had 10.

Expert archer to conduct clinic

Midge Dandridge, of San Marino, is barely five feet, weighs a mere 95 pounds — but Oh My! She's a midget menace to wild game everywhere.

She stalks her prey with a compound bow, and she will explain and demonstrate the technique during Fred J. Hall's annual Western Sports, Boat, Travel & Recreational Vehicle Show, today through March 7, at the Great Western Exhibit Center.

The clinic will be conducted at the show on Wednesday, Mar. 4th.

A counter bow is a far cry from the primitive weapon Adam and Eve's immediate descendants used in hunting animals. It has counter-weights, intricate strings and a steel tip. It releases an arrow with a force almost equivalent to a rifle bullet.

These bows have pull weights," says Midge. "They are in the 25-pound to 60-pound category, the force the hunter must overcome to release an arrow."

"I use the compound bow for big game. The pull force is about 40 pounds initially, but the counter-weight action at this point enables me to have a 60-pound pull, thus propelling the arrow at a tremendous speed."

Show patrons attending the seminar will learn from Midge valuable tips on the use of a modern bow and the proper methods of hunting both small and big game.

Midge also is an expert with firearms. She obtains her limits on most birds, such as doves, during the seasons. But she prefers the bow and arrow because she finds it more challenging.

Fishing regs offered

California anglers now can pick up a free copy of the 1976 sportfishing regulations at their favorite sporting goods store or bait shop. Copies also can be obtained from all Department of Fish and Game offices.

The DFG says 1 1/2 million copies of the 32-page booklet have been printed to keep anglers informed about the latest rules on fishing seasons, closed areas, limits and gear restrictions.

"The new regulations are effective March 1, and we hope all anglers will check the new rules booklet before starting out on their first fishing trip of the season," says DFG Director E. C. Fullerton.

Among the changes made by the Fish and Game Commission for 1976 are:

—New size limits for smallmouth and largemouth bass in designated waters.

—Creation of an artificial lures only trout fishing area on the Ventura River and its tributaries.

—New seasons and size limits on abalones; and —Addition of two waters to the list of lakes open for night fishing.

The new bass rules provide for a 12-inch minimum length for largemouth bass in Lopez Lake in San Luis Obispo County, Cachuma Lake in Santa Barbara County, Castaic Lake in Los Angeles County and Clear Lake in Lake County.

A 12-inch minimum size limit was established for both smallmouth and largemouth bass in Clair Engle Lake in Trinity County.

Trout fishermen will be restricted to the use of artificial lures with single barbless hooks on the Ventura River below Los Robles Dam, in Coyote Creek below Casitas Dam and in San Antonio Creek below Camp Comfort County Park Bridge. Open season for trout in these areas will be from the Saturday before Memorial Day through Nov. 15, except from the mouth of the river to Foster Park Bridge where the season will be from the Saturday before Memorial Day through the last day of February. Trout limit in these waters will be two per angler.

A CAR THAT'S INEXPENSIVE, NOT CHEAP.

Quality in an economy car. It's different things to different people. To some people, it's engineering and construction; to some, inexpensive upkeep; and to some low initial cost. To Toyota, it's all these things plus value, the most for your money. That's what you get with a Toyota Corolla. Starting at $2,789* for the 2-Door Sedan, it's certainly inexpensive, now read why it's not cheap.

Quality is dependability. Dependability provided by over 40 years of building small cars. Experience which has led to unit body welded construction for strength and a virtually rattle free ride, and transistorized ignition.

A Toyota Corolla is comfortable across town or cross country. Hi-back bucket seats, similar in design to those found in more expensive cars, cradle you in comfort—and power-er boosted flo-thru ventilation keeps the air fresh.

Quality can be felt in handling. A Toyota Corolla ride is good even when the road is bad thanks to the MacPherson Strut front suspension—the same system used on our sporty Celica line. And to bring you to a sure, smooth stop the Corolla has power assisted front disc brakes.

A quality automobile is efficient. The Corolla's performance is derived from a 1.6 liter, hemi-head, OHV engine to couple smooth building pick-up with great gas mileage. In 1976 California EPA test, the 4-speed transmission was rated at 35 mpg on the highway, 29 city. These mileage figures are estimates. The actual mileage you get will vary, depending on your driving habits and your car's condition and equipment. A durable 3-speed automatic transmission or 5-speed over-drive transmission is available in most models.

You get Corolla quality in all six models. Besides the 2-Door Sedan and 2-

Door Hardtop, models include a 2- and 4-Door Deluxe, a Wagon, and the sporty SR-5 Hardtop. See them all at your local dealer. There are nearly 1,000 authorized Toyota dealers in the United States. These same dealers comprise a network of service departments across the country staffed with Toyota trained mechanics in every important phase of automotive technology. And to back up this service network is a highly advanced parts system. Service. Quality. Quality service. You asked for it. You got it.

Piano recital slated

Pianist David Bean will present a recital in Schoenberg Hall, UCLA, at 8:30 p.m. March 13.

His program will include the "Appassionata" sonata of Beethoven, the Schubert B Flat Impromptu, Villa-Lobos' "Rude-poema," Sonata No. 5 by Scriabin and Chopin's Nocturne in E Flat Minor, and the C Sharp Minor Scherzo.

Bean is familiar to music lovers through his records for RCA and Westminster. He has been soloist with the Minnesota Orchestra and the Cincinnati and National (Washington, D. C.) symphonies. He has appeared in recital four times at Carnegie Hall and at New York's Town Hall and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

MSAC to do drama

The Mt. San Antonio College Players will present Jean Genet's "The Balcony" in the Little Theater at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and next Friday and Saturday. Tickets are $1.25 general and $1 for students.

Drama instructor Carter Doran will direct. Cast members are April Vahle, Chantel, Teri Vaught, the thief, Michelle Vanickey, Carmen, Kim Ashley, Irma, Peter Trincer, the Bishop, Mondo Alvarez, the Judge, Ric Thurnell, Roger, Bob Macias, the Envoy, Bryant Johnson, the Chief of Police, and Joe Vela, the General. Others are Mike Dunn, Ruben Saldanna, Jeffery Peters, Sheila Williams, Buddy Richardson, Debra Beatty, Ron Allen, Barry Nackos, Sandy Hultsman, Steve Ballante and Cindy Yost.

GENET DRAMA — Kim Ashley, left, and Michelle Vanickey star in Jean Genet's "The Balcony," to be presented at the Mt. San Antonio College Little Theater at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and next weekend. Carter Doran will direct.

'Canterbury Tales'

VCT stages rock musical

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN
When that April with his shoures sote, the droghte of Marche hath perced to the rote...

So begins the Valley Community Theatre production of "Canterbury Tales" which bowed at the Pomona Theater Thursday night with bounce and verve, some pleasant tunes and pleasant voices, and a general sense of fun and bawdry.

The abbreviated story of 14th Century English folk on a pilgrimage to Canterbury is presented with a gusty spirit that Chaucer would have admired. It is billed as a rock musical, but there is little rock. It is actually a play with songs, some of them very beautiful. I liked "We're Off!" ("Let's go merry to Canterbury"). "Where Are the Girls of Yesterday?"

"Darling, Let Me Teach You How To Kiss" "I'll Give My Love A Ring" and "What Does a Woman Want?" (As you can see from the song titles, and possibly recall from English III, sex is the theme of the Chaucer masterpiece.)

(Small boy, weeping and rubbing his rear end. "When I tell that story it's dirty, when Daddy tells it, it's Chaucerian!") fine in the solo "Now My Love I Do." The Clerk of Oxford is given a dynamic and ingratiating portrayal by Nicholas P. Hooyboer.

Dean Spencer is an impressive Chaucer, and Monte Van Vleet makes a robust and likeable Host, the Mr. Interlocutor of the Middle Ages. Mike Smith offers a romantic Squire.

Beth Rogers, in a variety of nubile characterizations, is vivid and seductive, and Nancy Oehlshlaeger brings down the house with her raunchy, raucous Wife of Bath.

Lending good voices and infectious enthusiasm to the proceedings are Rick Huffine, Miller; Ron DeRostier, Steward; Harry Thurston, Knight; Mark Clark, Priest and Pardoner; Steve Spencer, Friar.

Frank Kobel, Cook; Jerry Weiss, Summoner; Laurel Dove, Nun; and Nelda Troutman, Prioress.

Members of the chorus are Patti Harrington, Glenna Jones, Kathy Skrob and Danny Reeves.

John Smithson directs with imaginative gusto, and Gerald Gonzales conducts the orchestra.

RESTAURANT AND NIGHT LIFE

HILLBILLY BURGERS are a specialty of the house at Jan's Brunch House, 471 E. Holt, Pomona. The restaurant, owned by John Christ, opens to waffle trade at 7:00 a.m. daily.

HAM ON RYE is served by Dawn Leadingham, manager of the Pomona Greene's Delicatessen while co-owner Jim Kenny takes phone-in order. Firm features deli foods, bakery goods, catering, and in new Claremont store, Sunday breakfast.

wandering with woody

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

Denver & West, a duo who blends country, rock, pop and ballads into a very listenable and danceable sound, are entertaining the folks at The Trails Restaurant in Duarte these days. You'll remember them from their recent people-pleasing weekend appearances at The Castle in North Pomona and, earlier, at Mt. Baldy Lodge.

The lounge at The Trails is large, comfortable, inviting, and seemed to me as I entered a fitting place for these two personable entertainers. They were just getting underway as I arrived and the Saturday nighters didn't waste any time getting to the dance floor. Trails manager, Ginny Mac Anany is enthusiastic about Denver & West's easy listening style and, indeed, I found them to be very easy to listen to.

Denver's expressive, vibrant projects depth and sincerity as he takes the audience on a nostalgic musical journey with songs of yesteryear and winds up with a haunting contemporary love song. The beat quickens and Denver & West sing in harmony with a jubilant uptempo style which excites their audience and brings enthusiastic applause. Denver plays lead guitar and West plays bass guitar. Their styling is intricate and original. With electric sidemen the duo has a full band sound which floods the lounge with enticing danceable beats. They appeal to all age groups. Their music is never overpowering, but it's always exciting.

They play at The Trails Tuesday through Saturday. The restaurant has a well-established reputation for serving good steaks. In case you have been there and want to run over some evening, just take the 210 Fwy. to the Mt. Olive exit, right to Huntington (Hwy. 66), then short right to The Trails. If you do go over, say hello to Denver & West. If you drop in for a set, I'll bet you stay longer. They are really very good.

NEWS 'N NOTES

Betsy Ross announced their Bicentennial ice cream in last Monday's Prog. Called the Spirit of '76 ice cream, it's red, white & blue (what else?) and is selling super, according to Gene Neighbors, vice president of the local firm.

This is the last weekend at Papa Bill's for the popular Stage Fright. A new group comprised of three fellows who call themselves Sundown Express starts Monday at the Pomona club.

Another new rock group in town starting tonight is Kangaroo, playing upstairs at Little Louie's pizza place, 1520 White in La Verne.

Some exciting things are in store for you and the kids during the Grand Opening of the new Der Wienerschnitzel in Chino the first weekend in March. The two-day affair will feature some of the usual things you'd expect at a grand opening, plus something a little different. More on this next week.
